OIL OR BUST

The Slogan for 1922 in the Monitor Oil Fields

The West Regent has closed down for the winter months, owing to the recent cold snap it was impossible to carry on, altho the Company was very anxious to finish the hole before the close of the year as the indications were excellent and they were very confident of bringing in a good flow of oil within another hundred and fifty feet. They have already struck a good flow of wet gas, and on the night of Nov. 25th, they illuminated the prairie by lighting the gas, which burned all night and could be seen from town. Manager Marchbank stated that they had enough gas to heat and light all of this town, and that as soon as the weather breaks, in the Spring, they will commence drilling again. It is also learned that they will sink another well as soon as the one now under way is completed, as the indications are strong enough to convince the Co. that there is oil in this district. The present well is down 2640 feet.

Chris Deadmarsh has been left in charge of the rig for the winter months.

The Imperial Oil crew is busy clearing away the ruins of the fire which destroyed their entire plant, entailing a loss of about seventy-five thousand dollars, and getting everything in shape for the rig builders who will erect the new derrick.

An entire new plant will be shipped in during the winter.

Indications are good and the possibilities for oil are so encouraging that they will no doubt have everything in readiness by Spring to complete the well.

It is stated the outfit drilling for the Record Oil Co. has changed hands, and will be under new management next year.

The Spring of 1922, from all reports, will see several new rigs in the Monitor field, and with the four already here, will no doubt attract some attention from oil promoters throughout America.

There is not a doubt in the world but that the oil is here, and the sinking of several holes will reveal the best locations.

Nineteen-twenty-two will be the Big Year for Monitor.

Entirely New Treatment For Bronchitis, Catarrh.

No Internal Medicine to Take

Years ago the profession fought Catarrh by internal dosing. This upset the stomach and didn't remove the trouble. The modern treatment consists of breathing the healing, soothing essence of Catarrhose, which goes instantly to the source and the trouble. Catarrhose is successful because it penetrates where liquid medicines can't go. The balsamic vapor of Catarrhose drives out the germs, soothes the irritation, relieves the cough, makes Catarrhal troubles disappear quickly. For bad throat, coughs, bronchitis, Catarrhose is a wonder. Two months treatment, one dollar. Small size 50c. Sold everywhere or The Catarrhose Co., Montreal.

Suddenly there was another stir about the door, and a young fellow in scarlet tunic and yellow-streaked riding pants walked briskly in. His lithe figure, his clean boyish face, his military alertness, were in striking contrast to the ambling, carelessly-dressed crowd. He had taken in the situation at a glance and walked, neither faster nor slower, directly to the desperado. The latter found himself confronted by an unexpected dilemma. If he took his gun off the lumber-jack to cover the policeman he knew perfectly well that the promised anti-cracking process would begin immediately. If the policeman had only stood at the door and ordered him to put up his guns, or parleyed, or thought of his skin as a policeman should, he would have had time to plan his campaign. But this boy in scarlet was a revelation of something new in policemen. It was only eight steps from the door to where the outlaw stood, and those eight steps at parade pace occupied about three seconds. The gentleman from Montana was quick enough with his gun, but not particularly nimble in intellect, and he never faced a situation quite like this before. What was this policeman going to do, anyway? Would he never stop and deliver his ultimatum? He had not even drawn his gun!

By this time the policeman was beside him. He did not seize him, nor shout at him, nor menace him in any way, yet somewhere in his manner and bearing was a cease of irresistible power.

"Perhaps you don't know that it's against the law to flourish a revolver in this country," he said. "Better let me keep it for you until you are leaving town."

"Against the law?" said the ruffian, now recovering himself. "That's a

Headaches Gone

Perhaps you can imagine what this means to one who has suffered terribly with headaches for ten years.

Read about it in this letter.

Mrs. Tena A. Smith, Country Harbor Cross Roads, N. S., writes:

"I feel that if anyone can recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I certainly can. I suffered for ten years from severe headaches, and although I took all kinds of headache powders they just relieved me at the time. I became very nervous and run-down, and everything seemed to trouble me. I have taken eighteen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and it has made an entirely new person of me. I felt that I could not have lived without it. I do not have one headache now for every hundred I used to have, and my nerves are good and strong. I just weighed 109 pounds when I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and now I weigh 121. Knowing what this treatment has done for me, I cannot too highly recommend it to others."

good one. "Yes, ever this I've done for twenty years has been against the law. I cracked up the law for chicken-grit years ago."

"Not the Canadian law," said the Mounted Policeman. "You'll only offend against it once, and it won't be the law that gets cracked."

"That's so," sneered the other. "Then what'll happen?"

"I'll arrest you."

"You? I could eat you in three bites. I can lick you with one hand."

"How many like me do you think you could lick?" asked the policeman, with imperturbable composure.

The man from Montana had removed his eye from the lumber-jack, who was now dancing about in menacing attitudes.

"Forget it, Pete," ordered the policeman. "Now how many like me can you lick?"

"About six," said the other, speaking with much deliberation.

"All right," said Sergeant Carey. "Then my chief would send seven. Now, will you come with me or wait for the seven?" By the way, he continued, "the look-up is a sort of beastly place to stow a man, especially when he's visiting the country for the first time. I think I'll let you sleep here, on your promise to appear at court at ten to-morrow morning. Let me help you to your room. But first, I'll have to trouble you for your gun."

"What if I clear out through the night?"

"You won't—not very far." There was a metallic ring in the last words that penetrated the shell of the man who had made a business of breaking law for twenty years, and he calmly handed over his revolver.

"Search me if I know why I do it," he said, turning to the bar-tender. "I can't eat that kid in three bites."

"Yes," said the man behind. "But you couldn't digest the whole British Empire, could you?"

theft case, and had managed to escape from the town simply because a fellow-man whom he had wronged did not trouble to press the matter against him. Riles' acquaintance with him had not been close; except in a business way they had moved in different circles, and he was surprised and a little puzzled that Gardiner should find him out on the first night of his presence in the West.

Gardiner showed no disposition to reopen the conversation about Plainville, so at last Riles asked, "How did you know I was here?"

"Saw your scrawl on the register," he said, "and I've seen it too often on wheat tickets to forget it. Thought I'd look you up here. What are you chasing—more land?"

"Well, I won't say that, exactly, but I kind of thought I never ought to leave over some of this stuff the Government's givin' away, before the turnin's gets all it. Guess if there's any 'free gold' us men that pioneered one province should get it on the next."

"You don't learn anything, Riles, do you? You don't know anything more about making money than you did twenty years ago."

"Well, maybe I don't, and maybe I do, but I can pay my way, and I can go back to Plainville when I like, too."

"Don't get hot," said Gardiner, with unshaken composure. "I'm just trying to put you wise to yourself. Don't make any difference to me if you spend your whole life bud-busting; it's your life—spend it any way you like. But it's only sense who don't know any better that go on to the land nowa-days. It's a lot easier to make a living out of farmers than out of farming."

"Well, p'rhaps so, but that's more in your line, I never learned."

"That's just what I say—you never learn. Now look at me. I ain't wearin' my last suit, nor spending my last dollar, either, and I haven't done what you'd call a day's work since I came West. There's other things so much easier to do."

"Meanin'?"

"Oh, lots of things. Remittance men, for instance. These words are full of them. Chaps that never could track straight in the old ruts, and were sent out here where there aren't any ruts at all. They're not a bad bunch, brought up like gentlemen, most of 'em; play the piano and talk in three or four languages, and all that kind of stuff, but they're simply dangerous to the public interest. So when it comes to hand, in the public interest, they have to be separated from it."

"Sounds interestin'," said Riles.

"Tis, too, especially when one of 'em don't take to the treatment and lays for you with a gun. But my hair's all there. That's what comes of wearin' a tall hat."

"Tell me," said Riles, his face lit up with interest, "how'd you do it?"

"I wouldn't do you any good," said Gardiner. "You've steered too many plough-handles to be very nimble with your fingers. But there's often other game to be picked up, if a man knows where to look for it."

"Well, I wisht I knew," Riles confessed. "Not anythin' crooked, y' know, but somethin' like—well, somethin' like you're doin'. I've worked hard for ev'ry nickel I ever made, an' I reckon if there's easy money goin' I've a right to get some of it."

"Now you're beginnin' to wake up. Though, mind you, some of it isn't as easy as it looks. You've got to know your business, just like farmin' or anythin' else. But you can generally land somethin' to live on, even if it ain't a big stake. Take me now, for instance, if I ain't done anythin' but a preacher mightn't do. Happened to fall in with a fellow owns a ranch up the river here. Cleaned him empty one night at cards—shoot him up for his last cent, and he kind of took a notion to me. Well, he's the son of a duke or an earl, or some such thing, and not long ago the governor goes and dies on him, leaving him a few castles and brick-a-brac like that, and some wagon-loads of money. So he had to go home for the time being, and as he wanted someone to run his ranch, who should he think of but me. Suppose he thought if I happened to bet it at poker some night I wouldn't lose it, and that's some consideration. He's got a thousand acres or so of land up there, with a dozen cayuses on it, and he gives me twenty-five pounds a month, with board and lodging and open credit at the Trading Company. He's got a good many things on his mind. Besides that, I hire a man to do the work, and charges his wages up in the expenses. Got a good man, too—one of those fellows who don't know any better than work for a living. By the way, perhaps you know him—comes from Plainville part—Travers his name is."

"Sure," said Riles. "He worked for Harris, until they had a row and he went out. I kind of bailed Harris up, too, although he'd never admit it. If he'd Travers there'd be easier for him to get away now."

"That's Harris goin'?"

"He ain't goin'; he's comin'. Comin' out here in a few days after me. I'm his kind of advance guard, spyin' out the land."

Note and Comment

The Dominion Elections will be held on Tuesday next, the 6th of December, and it is the duty of every voter to get out and cast his or her vote on that date. Make it a point to be at the polls early and if you do not thoroughly understand the ballot, ask those in charge of the booth for any information you may desire about voting.

Don't leave it for "George to do it" but get busy and vote for yourself, and also see that the other members of the household cast their votes.

Cheer up, fellows. Christmas Eve comes on a payday this year.

Sometimes we are prone to believe that our bank must use a subtracting machine instead of an adding machine. It appears that way with our monthly balance.

NOPE! THIS NEWSPAPER AIN'T PERFECT—BUT I NEVER HEARD OF ONE THAT WUZ!

Latest market report:
"Butter is strong at 48 cents and is able to hold its own. Yeast cakes are rising steadily. Bananas are slipping along at the old price with an occasional drop. Cheese is lively and stirring. Syrups are sticking to the prices and are about a pint more to the quart than they were last winter. Green apples are growing less since vacation. Dried apples are swelling the market. Chickens are picking up a little. The egg market was good until it broke. Onions are still strong."

A member of one of the theatrical clubs tells of a stranded but still haughty leading man, who was obliged to put up at a dilapidated country hotel. He glanced frowningly around the office, reluctantly signed the register, and took the brass key from the proprietor.
"Is there any water in my room?" he demanded.
"There was," replied the proprietor, "but I had the roof fixed."

Lower Rentals For Grazing Leases

In view of the depression existing in the livestock industry, the low price obtaining for cattle and the high cost of fodder, due to the partial failure of the feed supply, the Dominion Government, through the Dept. of the Interior, has decided to accept for one year, commencing Oct. 1, 1921, rental at the rate of two cents per acre per annum from those holding grazing leases providing for the payment of rental at the rate of four cents per acre annum. This carries with it, however, the provision that it must be paid within 30 days from the date on which it is due. It has also been decided to reduce the rate of rental chargeable for grazing privileges on school lands from ten cents to six cents per acre.

Good News For The World

Christmas, 1921, gives promise of more nearly approaching to a realization of the song of the angels on the first Christmas morn, "Peace on earth goodwill to men," than any like season in years past thanks to the conference on the limitation of armaments convened at Washington. It is too early as yet to estimate the results of this epoch-making conference, but that it cannot fail to be productive of much good was clearly established at the opening session and subsequent days.

The Great War ended in the "scraping" of the German navy, a big fleet created as an offensive weapon, a threat against all other nations and the peace and freedom of the world. The British and United States navies have been brought into being for defensive purposes, and the former has long been regarded as a world policeman and been responsible, not for precipitating wars, but in preventing them and maintaining order and extending liberty in all parts of the globe. When the German navy struck its colors and was ignominiously scuttled, the Austrian and Turkish fleets met a like fate. And with the destruction of these navies the need for maintaining great defensive fleets by Great Britain, the United States, Japan and other nations passed, unless they, too, were to keep on building against one another.

The whole world rejoices at the evidence produced by the Washington conference that any insane, human, barbarous policy is not to be followed. Britain and the United States, the two greatest naval powers, are not distrustful of each other. Neither has any cause to fear attack from the other. And Japan, the third naval power, whose motives are not so well understood, has been asked to join in putting a stop to further construction of these huge and enormously expensive monsters of destruction and to "scrap" hundreds of millions of dollars worth of ships already built and building.

And the Governments of these three countries have agreed to stop the suicidal, war-provoking race for naval supremacy. Whatever the politicians, the militarists and armament manufacturers of these countries may think and desire, they fully realize that any Government which refused to entertain the proposal submitted at the Washington conference would be swept out of office by an outraged people. There may be changes in details of the plan submitted, but in the main it must be ratified because the people themselves so will it.

It will not be the first time that Britain and the United States "scraped" their navies, or, at least, portions of them. More than one hundred years ago these two countries by treaty pledged themselves not to maintain naval forces on the Great Lakes between Canada and the States. That agreement has been carried out by both countries, in letter and in spirit. For over a century there has been no threat of one against the other along the long international boundary line. Nor has either country in naval expansion on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts created vessels of a design intended for use against each other.

What the United States and Britain could and did do over one hundred years ago, and what they have succeeded in doing throughout the years that have followed, all nations ought to be not only willing but able to do in this still more enlightened age. The saving in money and consequent taxation of the people will be enormous, but the greatest benefit of all will be the removal of a standing threat against each other and the peace of the world which these huge fleets of battleships constitute.

The United States demonstrated its good faith in calling the conference at Washington and in the proposals submitted to it. There was no compulsion on the United States to take such action. It is in a position to stand the strain of competitive naval armaments better than any other country. Britain has demonstrated her sincerity not only by acceptance of the programme submitted, but in taking immediate action stopping all work on construction of new ships, including the four powerful battle-cruisers of the Hood type, and in urging a still further reduction in submarine construction. The four Hoods alone would have meant a cost equal to three dollars per head for every man, woman and child in the British Isles.

Canada is deeply interested in the outcome. It means that it will not be necessary for this Dominion to even take a start at creating a navy—a course which would have been inevitable if the old race in battleship building was to be continued. It is a further guarantee of continued peace between the two great branches of the English-speaking race, the breaking of which peace would make Canada the battlefield for the contending forces. It will remove danger of Canada becoming involved in a struggle between the United States and Japan, because the Washington proposals are bound to remove much of the growing friction between those two nations.

It is far better for the nations of the world to scrap their navies than to have their navies scrap. It is a great forward step towards turning the instruments of war into the machinery and tools of peaceful industry. Peace on earth, goodwill to men will have a new meaning this Christmas.

RHEUMATIC PAINS HAVE DISAPPEARED

As a Result of Treating the Trouble Through the Blood

The chief symptom of rheumatism is pain. The most successful treatment is the one that most quickly relieves and banishes the pain. Many rheumatic people suffer pain that could be avoided by washing the blood, when rheumatism is associated with thin blood it cannot be corrected until the blood is built up.

Mr. Ed. Hall, Main-a-Dieu, N.S., suffered from rheumatism for years, but was none the less one of many victims of the disease for he found a remedy that so built up his entire system that he is now free from rheumatism. Mr. Hall says: "I was taken down with rheumatism, and at times was under the treatment of several of the best doctors in Cape Breton, but they held out no hope for my recovery from the trouble. I was confined to bed for three years and a helpless cripple from the trouble. I could not move and had to be turned in sheets. My legs and fingers were drawn out of shape, and sores developed on my body as the result of my long confinement to bed. I was in this serious condition when a friend advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I began taking them. The first benefit I felt from the pills was an improved appetite, and then I began to feel stronger, and was finally able to get out of bed and go about on crutches. I continued taking the pills for months, slowly but surely getting new strength, and finally I was able to lay by the crutches aside. I will always be lame as the result of my long stay in bed, my left leg has shortened somewhat, but otherwise I am feeling fine and able to do my work as fishery overseer. I may add that when the rheumatism came on I weighed 140 pounds, and when I began going about on crutches I only weighed 67 pounds, and now I am at normal weight. There are many here who know and can vouch for the truth of these statements."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mrs. Margaret Bond Says Troubles Cost Her A Small Fortune

"During the five years I suffered, with stomach trouble and rheumatism I spent a small fortune trying to get well," said Mrs. Margaret Bond, of Riding Mountain, Manitoba, wife of a prosperous farmer well known throughout that section.

"My stomach was in such bad condition," she continued, "that I couldn't eat scarcely anything without suffering afterwards. I often had such painful attacks of rheumatism in my limbs that I couldn't help crying. I was so nervous that if I tried to take a drink of water my hands shook so the water would spill and I was never able to get a good night's sleep. I took all kinds of medicines and treatments, but nothing seemed to help me."

"During the 'flu' epidemic I was taken down with it. I was in bed five weeks and when I got up I wasn't able to leave the house for ten weeks and I didn't have any hope of ever getting well again.

"I decided to try Tanlac as a last resort. I have taken eight bottles of this medicine and the results have been just wonderful. My appetite began to improve after the first few doses and I felt hungry all the time. I am now able to eat anything I want and don't suffer in the least with indigestion, am no longer nervous and can sleep all night and when morning comes I am feeling fine and ready for a hearty breakfast. I haven't a rheumatic pain about me, in fact I feel as well as I ever did in my life and my health seems to be perfect in every way. I have gained eleven pounds in weight and am so much stronger that I can do my housework with ease."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

The top is of heavy oiled paper, which sheds water effectively, and the handle is of cheap wood. It costs far less than the pressing of a wet and wrinkled suit.

Says Canada Is Workers' Paradise

Major Mary Booth Thinks Conditions Are Ideal

Canada was eulogized as a worker's paradise by Major Mary Booth, General Bramwell Booth's second daughter, who has returned to England from a visit to the Dominion. "Canada does strike one as a place to live in," she said in an interview. "All the houses seem to have telephones and electrical washing machines controlled by pressing a button. Even the mangles are worked by electricity. Everybody seems to have a motor car. One of the biggest shops in Toronto has a garage for its employees' cars."

Colic, Cramps, Stomach Pains Need a Quick Relief

Security against these sudden ills consists in always keeping handy a bottle or two of Nerviline. No family should ever go to bed unless Nerviline is in the house. It fulfills so perfectly every service as a pain remedy that once used, you'll never again be without it. Money can't buy much greater assurance against the many small ills that constantly arise in every family than you get in a 35c bottle of Nerviline. Sold everywhere.

More Creameries Needed

Despite the high cost of construction the demand for creameries in Saskatchewan is most urgent. While there are, it is estimated, fewer milk cows in the province than last year, the number of creameries register a great increase and represent a total investment worth $2,775,000.

With this in view, the Canadian National Railways have arranged for considerably reduced fares from stations in Western Canada—Winnipeg West in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The special fares may be taken advantage of any time between December 1st, 1921, and January 15th, 1922, and are good for return during three months from date of issue. Tickets may be purchased to any point in Eastern Canada. See any Canadian National Railway Agent for further particulars.

A Pretty Frock for the Small Girl

By Marie Belmont

Voile is an admirable fabric for the small girl's dress, as it is easily laundered and wears very well. A pleasing shade of tan voile is favored for the fashioning of this frock. It is designed with a square cut neck-line, which is outlined with brown grain satin ribbon. The ribbons are continued down the front and also trim the side sashes. They are used to simulate cuffs on the short sleeves, while the skirt shows an interesting ribbon trimming. Of course you might substitute bands of brown voile instead of the ribbon, and this would be equally effective.

THIS WOMAN'S MISERY

Ended by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Remarkable Recovery of Mrs. Church.

Smiths Falls, Ont.—"I suffered with falling of my organs, pains around my heart and in bowels and down my legs, neuralgia in my face and head, and that terrible sinking feeling. I felt that I could not live and would fix my house in order every night so there would be no trouble if I dropped off in the night. My husband went to the druggist to get the best remedy he had and he gave him Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles and felt a lot better. I will always recommend the Vegetable Compound, and you can use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. O. Church, Box 845, Smiths Falls, Ont.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from nervous prostration, displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion and dizziness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills. If there are any complications about which you need advice write in confidence to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

NATIONAL RAILWAYS PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN

The improved financial showing of the Canadian National Railways for the months of August and September has received general and favorable comment in the Press throughout the country. It will be of interest to the general public to see in graphic manner the monthly advances made since the beginning of the year.

The chart shows that Operating Expenses, as indicated by the upper line of the chart, were brought down, month by month and that they drew gradually towards a meeting with the lower line, which indicates the Gross Earnings.

Those who were in close touch with the situation, and who knew what was being done to bring about operating economies, could see well in advance that a continuation of these measures with the usual increases in volume of traffic, would bring the lines together, and that with the seasonable crop movement they should cross. It was hardly expected that the month of August would show net earnings but reductions in the costs of supplies and materials, coupled with the readjustment of wages and the increase in Gross Earnings, were factors which, combined, enabled the management to produce a small balance on the right side for August. The crop movement in September was sufficient to enable the much better showing made in that month.

A feature of the situation which constituted a great difficulty encountered by the management in their endeavors to wipe out the deficit, is displayed by the chart which shows that the gross earnings dropped after February; that month's gross is usually the lowest in any year, and commencing with March gross earnings invariably improve; but during the present year a new condition prevailed, the earnings in the months of April, May and June were lower than those in the months of January and Feb. This slump in business was general, and affected all lines. If the usual trend of earnings had been followed the operating economies would have brought the lines together at an earlier date. The chart also shows that the greater reductions in operating expenses were obtained prior to July; this should dispose of the view that the reduction in expenses was largely brought about by the readjustment of wages, effective July 16th.

The Canadian National Railways, earlier in the year, informed the people of Canada by a frank, explicit article in the public press of some of its problems and in particular of the pressing need of more traffic. The improvement in the relative position of the National lines has been accomplished not only by the reductions of operating costs, but, also, thru the co-operation of the public that realized the truth of the statements made on the National Railways behalf, and who have met the situation in a practical way.

Wisdom Of Limiting Land Armament Is Considered Doubtful

Washington.—When the arms delegates quit work for the Thanksgiving Day recess the following three considerations embraced the central points of interest in their discussion:

Whether the effort to apply generally accepted principles to specific cases in the Far East would bring definite accomplishments or only lead to futile debate.

Whether, in view of the position of France and the general situation in Europe, any serious attempt should be made to agree on a limitation of land armament.

Whether a way can be found to hasten consideration of details on the naval limitation plan, which is proceeding smoothly, but too slowly to satisfy some of the delegates.

Of these questions the first was brought sharply to the fore by several direct clashes of opinion regarding elements of the Far Eastern negotiations. At the executive session of the nine delegations, the right of the Chinese delegates to speak for the Chinese delegates was reported to have been questioned by France, and later a British interpretation of the general principles already adopted was challenged by some of the Chinese.

Earlier in the day the land armament problem had been debated behind closed doors by the delegates of the big five powers, without further result than the appointment of a sub-committee to consider collateral subjects like the use of airplanes and poison gases.

Premier Briand, of France, making his farewell speech to the conference, pressed his argument that his country dared not disarm unless he had guarantees from the other powers, and although the general discussion drew renewed expressions of sympathy from every other national group, no one proposed any formal joint declaration of policy.

Choose Leader For Himalaya Expedition

Big-General Bruce Will Head Mt. Everest Expedition

London.—Colonel Sir Francis E. Younghusband, president of the Royal Geographical Society, announced that Brig-General Charles Bruce, who is well acquainted with the region, has accepted the leadership for next year of the expedition which will attempt to reach the summit of Mount Everest, in the Himalayas, the highest peak in the world.

Big B.C. Fish Catch

Prince Rupert, B.C.—More than two million pounds of deep sea fish have been caught in these waters since November 1, promising one of the best months in many years. Catches of black cod have been unusually heavy.

Club Thrown At Prince In Bombay

Vancouver.—A special cable to the Vancouver World says that while the Prince of Wales was entering a building in Bombay a club was thrown at his head by someone in the crowd of spectators. The missile missed its mark and the Prince passed into the building unharmed. A great crowd had assembled to witness the visit of the arrivals for the ball, which was being given in connection with the Prince's visit to Bombay. The assailant escaped, so far as cables indicate, in the confusion which followed the attack.

Winter Work Will Avoid Delay

Year Would Be Saved On Big Irrigation Project

Calgary.—Representations will be made immediately to the department of the interior, Ottawa, by the Calgary Board of Trade in support of a resolution presented by the Hanna Board of Trade, urging that survey parties be continued through the winter months in the North Saskatchewan irrigation area, now known as the William Pearce irrigation scheme. This action was decided upon by the council of the local Board of Trade after having the project outlined to them by William Pearce.

It was represented that should the survey parties continue working throughout the winter months, the necessary data required to estimate the approximate cost of the scheme would be available next spring, which would avoid a possible delay in operations of perhaps a year.

From investigations already made, it would appear to be practically certain that Sullivan Lake can be made an immense reservoir, requiring considerable dyking on the east side to render it so.

An Oil without Alcohol.—Some oils and many medicines have alcohol as a prominent ingredient. A judicious mixing of six essential oils compose Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, and there is no alcohol in it, so that its effects are lasting.

Appeal Dismissed

Toronto.—Justice Mowat has dismissed without costs the action brought by Lieut.-Col. Lorne Mulloy to continue an injunction restraining the town of Ingersoll Falls from levying taxes on the basis of an assessment roll which doubled the assessments made by a former assessor.

Moplahs Killed In Recent Fighting

Much to Be Done Before Rebellion Is Quelled

London.—Although the official report of the operations against the Moplahs in Southern India declares that considerable progress is being made in dealing with the rebellion, it is evident that the process of clearing up still involves severe fighting from the announcement that 233 Moplahs were killed and 51 captured, and on the British side one Gurkha officer and one British officer were killed in the drive north of the Beypore River. A large concentration of Moplahs under all the best known leaders, is reported as taking place at Bear Cherrasseries, and the British authorities think it would probably be most satisfactory, from a military viewpoint, if this force could be induced to give battle.

China's Financial Crisis Averted

Three Months' Pay Received For Police and Soldiers

Peking.—The financial crisis which threatened the stability of the government has been averted temporarily through remittances from the provincial military governors, totalling 7,000,000 taels. Such heavy remittances from the provinces are unprecedented.

The provincial funds are sufficient to pay the police and soldiers three months' wages, thereby averting the threatened looting of the capital, but will not provide for the civil administration. High civil officials are supporting the government banks by transferring their personal funds to Peking, and as a result notes are again negotiable.

Big Profit On Liquor Sales

B.C. Government Nets $541,606 In Three and Half Months

Victoria, B.C.—The British Columbia Government made a net profit of $541,606 on liquor sales for the first three and one-half months of operation under the Liquor Sales Board from June 15 to September 30, according to a balance sheet filed in the Legislature by Hon. J. W. de B. Farris, attorney-general, in accordance with the terms of the Liquor Control Act. This does not include the $121,000 received from the sale of permits.

Not Conference Result

London.—The partial suspension in the recruiting of seamen for the navy has no connection with the Washington Conference, but is due to the fact that the admiralty, for a long time, has been scrapping obsolete vessels and generally grading the personnel of the navy in pursuance of its policy of retrenchment.

Double Premium

London.—The Board of Trade announces that the German Government has doubled the premium levied when gold duties under the customs tariff are paid in paper currency. Thus four thousand paper marks must be paid for each thousand marks in gold instead of two thousand marks as previously.

Puts Responsibility On Alberta Doctors

Have Been Given Choice Regarding Liquor Prescriptions

Calgary.—Physicians and surgeons of Alberta have had it put squarely up to them by J. D. Brownlee, attorney-general, as to just how many liquor prescriptions each one shall write during a month. By giving the doctors the choice of writing anywhere from a minimum of 25 to a maximum of 100 prescriptions a month, the responsibility for prescribing liquor other than for medicinal uses is put squarely on the shoulders of the individual doctor.

There was some talk that the attorney-general's department was preparing to cut down the number of liquor prescriptions to 25 a month. Instead, the department chose the course of leaving it to the doctors themselves.

Wants to Restrict State Parliament

Australian Premier Introduces Bill to Extend Federal Power

London.—A Reuter cable from Melbourne says that Premier Hughes introduced in the House of Lords a federal convention bill designed to amend the constitution of the commonwealth to give greater powers to the Federal Parliament and lessen powers to the state legislatures. The bill provides for the election of 111 members, comprising 18 elected by the Federal Parliament, 18 by the state parliaments and 75 by the adult franchise of the commonwealth. Within a year after the first meeting, the convention must report on constitutional amendments desirable and within 15 days the necessary legislation will be introduced.

Dog Returns Purse And Holds Thief

Montreal Man Sent Hound to Assist Woman

Montreal.—The sagacity of a Belgian police dog, belonging to Joseph Cote, led to the arrest of Arthur LeBlanc, who snatched a purse from Mrs. MacFarland as she was walking home. Hearing the woman's cries, Mr. Cote, who was passing in his auto, accompanied by his dog, sent the animal after the thief, who took refuge behind some bushes. The astute hound first seized the stolen purse and dashed back with it to his master. He then ran back and, cornering LeBlanc, held him until the arrival of a police officer.
